Subject: Bulk Fuels Facility July 27 Meeting Cancellation Notice

Good morning. Please see the notice below.

Kirtland AFB Bulk Fuels Facility July 27 public information meeting cancelled

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. - The Air Force and the New Mexico Environment Department, or NMED, announced today the cancellation of the public information meeting, poster session and technical deep dive seminar scheduled for Thursday, July 27 at the African American Performing Arts Center. The next scheduled public meeting for the project will be Nov. 14, 2017 from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

The July meeting is being cancelled to provide more time to review two major milestones on the project: the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act Facility Investigation Report characterizing the leak and the Risk Assessment Report delineating risk in support of future decision-making. Both of these documents present technical evaluation information about the Bulk Fuels Facility investigation activities conducted to determine nature and extent of fuel contamination; interim cleanup measures implemented as part of this project; and an evaluation of exposure risk associated with the fuel release.

Interim measures continue to advance fuel-contamination cleanup. The groundwater treatment system continues to extract and treat ethylene dibromide-contaminated groundwater with a fourth extraction well coming online in the fall. Work is also ongoing in the source area. The first phase of the biodegradation pilot test has begun and NMED is reviewing the work plan for soil coring.
