Dear Mr. Kieling:

Regarding this revision, we need to reframe the discussion from "How shall we deal with all this hazardous waste?" to "How soon will we disallow its production?" You and I know that this is the most hazardous waste ever created and will remain so hundreds of thousands of years into the future, just so we can keep nuclear bomb-makers employed. When will the state of New Mexico take a courageous stand against nuclear proliferation and free itself from being a nuclear colony of the federal government?

Revoke LA's and Sandia's permits, send the waste to Washington, DC and clean this state up once and for all. Until then, all the "revisions" in the world will be useless band-aids over a large, festering wound.

Thanks for your consideration.

Regards,
