Re: Follow up response to "RISK BASED DECISION ASSUMPTIONS", items 14.-21.

Dear Steve:

Due to the lack of stakeholder consensus on site specific land use designations at Los Alamos National Laboratories the Hazardous and Radioactive Materials Bureau (HRMB) is not prepared to respond to the specific items cited above. It is the position of HRMB that prior to stakeholders consensus on land use designations, risk based driven decisions should apply the most conservative exposure scenario.

Should you have any questions please contact Steve Alexander at 827-4313.

Sincerely,

Benito Garcia

Benito Garcia, Chief
Hazardous and Radioactive Materials Bureau
