SUBJECT: INVITATION TO LEARN MORE ABOUT SOME CLEANUP ACTIVITIES BY THE LABORATORY'S ER PROJECT

Dear Interested Citizen:

The Department of Energy and the Los Alamos National Laboratory Environmental Restoration (ER) Project are preparing to perform voluntary corrective actions at various release sites (PRSs) within the Laboratory. Voluntary corrective actions of these PRSs will include removal of contaminated soil, septic tanks, storage areas, sumps, drain lines, and inactive outfalls, among other activities. Some of the voluntary corrective actions will be coordinated with decontamination and decommissioning activities to result in significant time and cost savings for the cleanup of these sites.

You are invited to attend a dialogue session on Wednesday, March 26, 1997. ER Project personnel will be available from 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at the Los Alamos Outreach Center, 1350 Central Avenue, Los Alamos, NM, (same building location as the Bradbury Science Museum), to discuss the voluntary corrective actions that will begin in April 1997.

Come and meet the staff on March 26, 1997, anytime between 1:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. at the Los Alamos Outreach Center. Please call Carmen M. Rodriguez at 665-6770 if you have any questions about this ER Project dialogue session.

Sincerely,

Jorg Jansen, Program Manager
