Subject: Stage III Fire Restrictions Rescinded

Dave,

Northern New Mexico and particularly Los Alamos County and the Laboratory has received significant rainfall during the past week. We're happy to let you know that the Stage III fire restrictions have been rescinded effective yesterday, July 8, 2013. Our field crews will be allowed access to all undeveloped areas around the Laboratory and all Consent Order-related work will continue per our normal schedule. We do not believe any Consent Order obligations (e.g., groundwater, surface water sampling) were missed due to the fire restrictions; however, if any requirements were not met, we will note these deviations in the appropriate reports.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks,
Katie
