Here is my comment for the record:

The fact that the DOE is frequently asking for "MODIFICATIONS" to the Hazardous Waste Facility Permit is cause for alarm. It is suspicious to be continually asking for variances to guidelines that were set up to supposedly protect the public.

I am an ordinary citizen, not a scientist, but I have common sense. It tells me that it is insanity to continue producing waste materials that are so hazardous as to require a process like this, which only pretends to keep the public informed anyway. You always include the phrase "will not adversely affect worker safety, public health or the environment". Yet, with DOE's record,

How can you expect us to believe that?
