Summary of Weather Decision Criteria for WIPP transportation shipments:

Prior to dispatch DOE will consult:

- Weather Channel (Central Monitoring Room)
- Weather Information Service
- Drivers
- Shipper
- State Contacts
- Waste Isolation Division

No dispatch will be authorized if any of the following severe weather conditions are predicted at a New Mexico port of entry or LANL for two (2) hour period after scheduled departure or within the first 200-mile segment of the route within New Mexico:

- Winter Storm Warning
- Heavy Snow Warning
- Blizzard Warning
- Blowing and Drifting Snow
- Freezing rain/Drizzle
- Dense Fog Advisory
- Tornado Warning
- Severe Thunderstorm Warning
- Flashflood Warning
- River Flood Warning
- High Wind Warning

In addition to the conditions above, the prevailing weather along the first 200 miles of the designated shipping route must be at or better than:

Visibility:	¼-mile or 2-1/2 intervals of the roadside markers
Winds:	Less than 40 miles per hour projected along the route for 200 miles.
Precipitation:	No accumulations of freezing rain or snow along the route. No traffic advisories or restrictions to travel based upon NMHTD road condition reports.
